

Volunteers In Medicine Clinic

Annual Report

October 1, 2021 thru September 30, 2022

VIM Makes a Difference...

The first thing that surprised Christian Gomes about the VIM Clinic was that it existed at all.

“People never expect something like that in the U.S.—a health clinic that is free,” he says. “People are very afraid. They think, ‘Sometimes I can’t even afford the basics. How can I pay for a doctor?’ But I tell them, ‘If you need care and can’t pay, I know a clinic that can take care of you. I tell them the doctors have worked for years but now they are volunteers. They know what they are doing. And they want to help people who need help.’”

And the second surprise? “I am always amazed at the way they treat people. It is like [the providers] are being paid. They really care—the people at the front desk, Dr. Diermayer, Dr. Jay, Dr. Ross. They all work together to care for us—the people who don’t have money.”

Christian moved to Oregon from Brazil in 2016. He is 47 and doesn’t have serious health issues. A few months after landing in Oakridge, his parents joined him. His dad, Servilho, felt ill, and Christian, who had heard about the VIM Clinic from friends, brought him in. Servilho was diagnosed with Hepatitis C and was referred to a specialist at PeaceHealth RiverBend who helped him secure free medication, which otherwise would have cost thousands of dollars. After finishing a round of medication, Servilho tested negative for the disease.

Since then, Christian has been an ardent VIM Clinic booster. He has introduced several friends to VIM, sometimes driving them to the clinic. Many people he knows in Oakridge don’t speak English, he says, so Christian, who speaks Portuguese, Spanish and English, often acts as a translator.

This summer, Christian needed to drive his father to the clinic for an appointment around the time wildfires were threatening the town of Oakridge. VIM staff called to see if he would be able to make the appointment. When he arrived, several staff made a point of coming over to him and asking how he and his parents were doing. “They care about us,” he says. “They really care.”

A YEAR IN THE LIFE...A PANDEMIC STATE OF MIND...

DeLeesa Meashintubby,
Executive Director
Volunteers In Medicine Clinic

CAN YOU FEEL IT? The crispness in the air tells us that summer is ending and autumn is upon us. Just like the leaves on a tree, also know that humans too experience an autumn season. A season of maturity and development.

The past two years and all the turmoil it has brought us demonstrated how important being healthy is for ourselves, our families, and our community. Volunteers In Medicine (VIM) Clinic has worked tirelessly for over 21 years to bring medical care to the less fortunate in Lane County. One thing we do know is that healthy people create a strong and healthy community.

Although the distancing and the masking has been a barrier in some ways, at VIM, we have learned that behind the mask, we are able to see the eyes and that tells a story within itself and even with the distance, we are able to touch with our hearts.

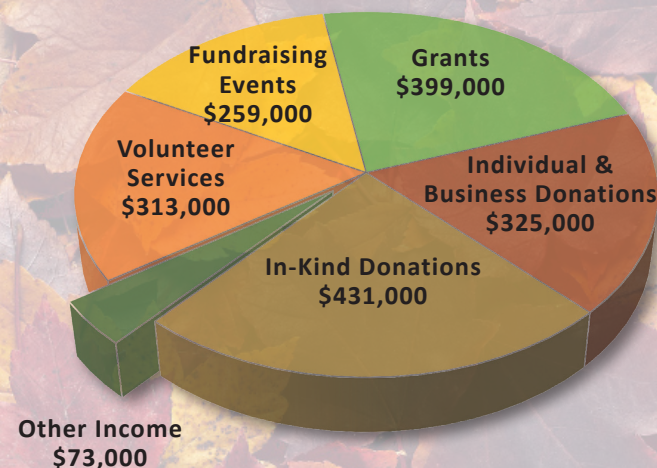

I am so proud of the VIM Clinic of Lane County, the staff, the volunteers, and of you the donors who make our dream of taking care of our community a reality. By your partnership with VIM, you have given a newness, a freshness, and a crispness back to those in need of rejuvenation in their health. We can't say thank you enough to all that you have helped VIM accomplish over these past two years. You have helped us to mature into a clinic that not only sees patients face-to-face but through telehealth as well. We meet the patients where they are at.

We thank you, we honor you, and we know we could do none of this without you.
